Hello,

I am part of the American Chemical Society Student Affiliates at Duquesne University. We are pleased to announce that we will be hosting the 36th Annual ACS Student Member Symposium in person, which will be held on Saturday, April 15th, 2022! We are contacting you in an effort to search for any eager and bright-minded students that would like to present at the symposium. We ask that you please send this email to all students that are performing research or independent studies in a science-related field. We have attached the flyer with the necessary information regarding dates and the form to sign up for the event. Any students that want to present at the symposium please fill out the form link located on the flyer. The deadline for registration and abstracts is Friday, March 31st.
